

ISSUE NO. 2

ZANIER AND MORE IRREVERENT THAN OUR LAST ISSUE!!

THE ATHENIAN

CWRU's Lampoon

America's Favorite Nerd, Steven Q. Urkel

Dear CWRU,

This is our second issue since last April. We try to keep this a semesterly publication but we simply could not pass up the opportunity to satirize the stuff that was going on with the presidential election. That, and we're lazy, so it worked out well both ways. We also made it a promise not to mention any phrases like "hanging chads" or "dimpled chads" because frankly we are sick of those phrases and people who say them are complete dooshbags (mainly news media, our prime target). Also, while I am on the topic, "Wassssuuuuup!" and Austin Powers phrases are not cool anymore either.

Anyway, here it is. This second issue is a culmination of hard work by our dangerously thin staff of a few graduating seniors. Case Western Reserve University has to be the most apathetic school in the world. Last time, we requested that anyone interested in helping in the publication of this humor magazine was welcome. The article was run in the The Observer as well as this mag. Guess how many people responded with interest in writing. Absolutely zero. You guys really suck man. This is a unique publication that we put our hearts and soul into, and we would love to see it survive. So if you guys (or gals) are interested in writing, we welcome you with open arms. Hell, we might even appoint you Head Editor. Just think, if you simply respond and state your interest in creating humor and lampooning stuff, you could be the head of a very rich and powerful MEDIA BOARD organization (I previously mentioned that all of us fools are graduating seniors, so it is in your hands for this magazine to survive.) Take some initiative if you like making fun of stuff or have an appreciation for humor. Even if you don't and are graphics experts, we could use your help as well. Our email address is:

case_lampoon@hotmail.com

We've had fun writing this, and we hope you have fun reading it. And don't take it too seriously because our only intent is to make you laugh. If you read into it too much, you are not meant to read it. We hope for some feedback and interest at the above email address.

Take Care,

Commentary: Its Just Breakfast, Dammit.

By Snoop

You know what pisses me off. Case students are a bunch of nerds. They never get out from studying....except for one night of the year. Ironically, its during final exams. An accomplishment in itself. I'm talking about the Semi Annual Late Night Breakfast that is organized by Leutner and Fribley. I love the general chaos that ensues. People push and shove each other. Darwinian instincts surface. Even though students have eaten breakfast that morning, they act like they've never seen breakfast before in their lives. "If I don't eat breakfast tonight, I will surely die of starvation," people seem to think. NO, you just have to go to sleep for 7 hours. Trust me, you'll be okay. There will be breakfast the morning after. I PROMISE. However, people continue to shove and throw scrambled eggs on their plates as if they were preparing for the apocalypse. I wonder if it would be the same if I served Dinner in the morning. I would love to serve each and every one of you a huge steak for breakfast, so you have indigestion the rest of the day. I especially love the disorder because I can get away with causing it without any repercussions. Over the last three years, I've tried unsuccessfully to incite food fights. Ultimately, the night ends in me throwing several cream filled donuts in the air and the donuts falling on random people. Let the chips fall were they may. I love the clatter of silverware. I love when drinks spill. I love watching the people wonder where the donuts came from. They came from here, jackass. You want to fight. I'm right here, jackass. Once you finish gorging your assface, I can pound it.

Editor's Note

*As you can see, Snoop is a horrible writer because he had no point. Snoop also believes all debates should be settled by fights. He is a little slow. Forgive him. Just remember when you go to the Late Night Breakfast, throw a lot of food at other people. It's a great way to meet girls.

CWRU's mascot is the Spartan. I was always taught in school that Athens was better than Sparta. The Spartan is strict and narrow minded (in essence, he is a moron). The Athenian is liberal and open minded. In addition, it just seems like he would have a sharp sense of humor. HA! HA! HA! I bet you're not laughing. (Try naming a magazine. Its pretty tough.)

We could have easily named our magazine POOP, but we have to pretend we are a semi intellectual magazine to remain in existence and receive funding.

The United States Vs. Microsoft Corp. : Government Hires Yoko Ono To Break Up Microsoft

(Redmond, Wash.)- The United States government has finally taken some serious action against Microsoft, the manufacturer of the ubiquitous Windows operating system. Even though Judge Thomas Penfield Jackson has ruled that the maker of Windows has used monopolistic practices, the powerful Microsoft lawyers have been buying more time to defend the software giant. In complete disgust, Judge Jackson has ruled that Yoko Ono, John Lennon's widow, be hired to split up the company. "If she can split up the f-cking Beatles, she can surely split up Microsoft," the judge commented. "This will be a walk in the park for her," he further added. According to government officials, Yoko plans to break the company into a Windows company and a separate applications company, but she would also settle for the company to split into three "baby bills."

Already, the effects of Yoko are being felt by the suits in the Microsoft boardroom. Microsoft President Steve Ballmer has been speaking with Paul McCartney and George Harrison for advice with this situation. Ringo Starr is presently writing horrible music, and that's why he is not available for advice. Executive Paul Allen has noticed a change in Microsoft CEO Bill Gates' usually nerdy demeanor. Said Allen, "He's been growing his hair long and smoking pot all day long. It's like he's a goddamn hippie or something. What's even weirder is that he's been writing new software like he's inspired or something. He wrote this new program called 'Imagine.' You know what. I bet you the software is for that bitch, Yoko." Things have started looking even bleaker for Microsoft after Rolling Stone Magazine released the cover of next month's issue. It is a picture of Bill Gates and Yoko in the nude exposing their hairy hippie asses. WIRED Magazine is also planning a hairy hippie ass cover soon. Looks like trouble, folks. Yoko doesn't fool around.

THE END OF MICROSOFT?

Above: Microsoft CEO Bill Gates pictured with Yoko Ono, the trustbuster. This picture shows that the breakup is inevitable. He plans to grow his hair long enough, so it can cover his hairy hippie ass. Gates is also smoking a lot of maryjane lately. In his hand is a tea kettle that he uses as a bong. His change from normal clothing to retro proves Yoko's work is almost complete.

Gun Manufacturer Merges With Unsuccessful Day Trading Firm

Atlanta, GA – In order to increase profits and holdings, a gun manufacturer merged with an unsuccessful day-trading firm this week. When the CEO of the gun manufacturer was asked about the downside of the merger, he said he really couldn't think of anything. "That's why this merger is so good. It benefits the company, all of the innocent bystanders, school children, federal buildings, and day care centers in our community. In effect, everyone wins," said the CEO.

The day-traders smiled upon the merger also. This is probably because one the perks of the merger allows them to choose any gun that they please with a full round of ammunition at no cost. Said one indebted day-trader, "I've lost a lot of money this week. I am really pissed and unstable. I am not thinking rationally right now. All of these bastards are out to get me. I need a damned gun." Another day-trader joshingly pointed a gun to his head and joked around that he was going to kill himself.

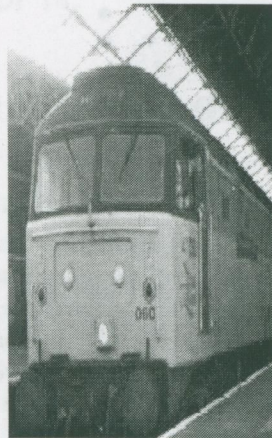

Meanwhile, on a different floor of the building which houses the newly merged company, a happy-go-lucky trader with Parkinson's Disease was testing out his new gun. He sprayed several rounds accidentally hitting over 200 innocent people. When the CEO was asked to comment on the accidental massacre, he said that "it was an honest mistake, and it could happen to anyone." "What we need to focus on is the real problem which is Parkinson's Disease. It afflicts many people including those who fire guns. This devastating disease can have horrendous effects on a person's aim," commented the CEO, who is also a member of the National Rifle Association.

Feminine Hygeine World Rocked By Stayfree-O.B.-Tampax TripleMerger

+ Tampax® tampons +

The heads of all three feminine hygiene companies are excited at the prospect of a triple merger. Said CEO of Stayfree, "This is what we refer to as a blockbuster deal." The government is very cautious about this deal and will only allow it to occur under several stipulations. One of them being that the resulting Mega-company of feminine yuckiness products will be ordered by the Environmental Protection Agency to release their top secret absorbance technology in the cleanup of oil spills. Exxon Valdez Captain Joseph Hazelwood said, "if this technology was available when I was a drunken mess and crashed my tanker, the pristine Prince William sound would have been preserved. Goddamn, those selfish, stupid tampon people. If these tampons can absorb nastiness from females, they are definitely capable of preserving our precious environment."

Little Elian Freaks Out During Practical Joke.

Famous SWAT Team Gunman Makes Special Surprise Visit in Candid Camera Prank!

Cardenas, Cuba- The infamous gun toting INS SWAT Team member was given permission by Juan Miguel Gonzalez, Elian's father, to carry out the Candid Camera prank on little Elian Gonzalez yesterday morning. The reenactment followed the original April raid very closely. The omnipresent fisherman, Donato Dalrymple, was invited the night before in order to add to the authenticity of the prank. In addition, Marisleysis Gonzalez was granted permission to stay in Elian's home to add to the drama with her incessant crying, wailing, and bitching.

At five in the morning, the gunmen stormed into the house by kicking the front door down. They brutally beat up Marisleysis as to shut her up. When Juan Miguel intervened, they also savagely kicked him to the ground and pounded on him LAPD style. When they reached the bedroom, the craven fisherman lifted Elian in front of him as a human shield to avoid being shot at. Elian began to cry and urinate all over himself when one the SWAT Team members yelled, "surprise, you're on Candid Camera!" In unison, everyone started to laugh as they realized they were embarrassed on nationwide television. Juan Miguel, limping and bloody streaming down his chin, admitted to the others that he knew about the prank the whole time and began to chuckle devilishly.

"I just wanted to see that fearful, underwear soiling look on Elian's face again. That was the most freaked out I've ever seen a kid. I thought I might bring Candid Camera in the second time around and have a little fun. The look on the kid's face is priceless. Dude, that was sooo classic," said the INS gunman. The gunman turned prankster hopes to play another practical joke on Elian if he receives Juan Miguel's permission. Sources say, it might involve marooning Elian on a life preserver in the middle of the Ocean. For god's sake, leave the damn kid alone.

Surprise. You're on Candid Camera! "Hey. Remember me you little punk? Dammit, I said quit crying. This is a practical joke. This isn't real. Anyone with a sense of humor would think this is hysterical. You don't want to laugh? Fine. How about I put this gun in your face and give you till the count of three for you to laugh? Hey fishman. Put the damn kid down and tell him to laugh or I am gonna pump some lead into his tiny little Communist stomach."

Off the Coast of Norway-
The Russian military is calling it quits on the submarine sandwich rescue attempts. "This is the gravest disaster in the whole history of our proud naval fleet. So much precious food was lost." A captain aboard a Russian naval vehicle was enjoying a delicious hoagie when an explosion rocked the boat. The captain who was leaning against the railing of the top deck dropped the sandwich into the sea because of the sudden jerk. Russians have been trying to retrieve the submerged sandwich since last week. The outlook is dismal at this point because the cured meats might have already been devoured by the underwater life.

Japanese Relations With United States Suffering Because of Karate Kid Star Pat Morita

Okinawa-
Japanese-U.S. relations suffered a severe blow yesterday when Pat Morita of Karate Kid fame walked in on Hillary Swank while she was changing her clothes. Mr. Morita claims it was an accident just like the other thirty times. Pat Morita, also known as Mr. Miyagi, helped Ralph Macchio gain popularity as The Karate Kid. Mr. Morita also starred with Hillary Swank who played The Next Karate Kid. The problems began eight years ago on the set of The Next Karate Kid when Mr. Miyagi barged into Swank's dressing room while she was changing her clothes. Morita (aka Miyagi) was severely reprimanded by the emperor and prime minister of Japan. He was sentenced to a week of trying to catch houseflies with chopsticks.

Ethiopians Gather For Benefit Concert. Proceeds to go to U.S. Pop Stars Pauperized By Napster.

Addis Ababa-
A group of starving Ethiopians organized a benefit concert for washed up pop stars as well as those suffering because of the popularity of Napster. Dubbed Rock Star Aid, the concert is estimated to raise millions of dollars for hungry victims of Napster, namely rock stars. The idea was the brainchild of seven year old village child, Mobutu Amin. The concert's main goal is to raise money for starving pop stars like Lionel Richie, Rick Astley, Paula Abdul, Journey, and The Bangles. "We must do something for these unfortunate rock stars. Napster and Scour are killing them. If we don't do something about it, they will surely starve to death. If they die, then who will produce CDs that we cannot afford to buy?," added Mobutu Amin.

Norse, Scandanavian Fundamentalists Hijack Plane, Demand Renaming of Columbus Day to Erikksen Day

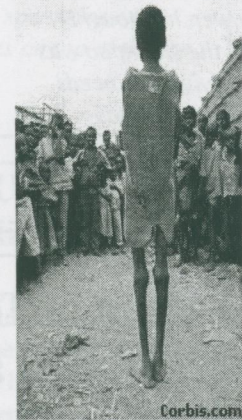

Somewhere near a Fjord-
Scandinavian fundamentalists have hijacked an American plane that was leaving Oslo, Norway. Their demands are simple. They simply want Lief Erikksen to be recognized for discovering the New World 500 years before Christopher Columbus claimed Hispanolia for the Spanish Empire. They also demand that state capital Columbus, Ohio be renamed Erickson, Ohio If the United States does not meet their demands, they will execute an American every half an hour starting from midnight. The United States government has made it clear that they will refuse to negotiate with these and all other terrorists.. Authorities are not budging. At this point, it's a deadlock folks.

Iraqi Man Loses Arm in Code of Hammurabi Clerical Blooper

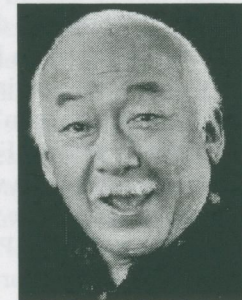

Baghdad-
An Iraqi man was the victim of a clerical error committed by the Code of Hammurabi Administrative Office. The victim was 28 year old Mustafa Sadat. He was scheduled to be beaten by a two by four piece of wood. It was his punishment for beating his wife with a similar piece of lumber. Instead, by some bureaucratic bungle, he had his arm chopped off. He accidentally received the punishment of a serial killer who left his mark by lopping off arms of his victims. Akbar Hussain, the serial killer was delighted when he heard the news of the mixup. When we questioned a high ranking official he responded by saying, "Saddam's gonna get a kick out of this one. Some idiot in internal affairs messed this one up. Gosh. What a doozy. I've seen goofups in my day, but this one takes the camel." Dick Clark and Ed MacMahon hope to include this story in their newest edition of Super Bloopers and Practical Jokes. The taping is scheduled to air on ABC sometime this fall.

Area Woman To Marry Fame, Power, Wealth and A Red Sportscar

A local woman has decided to tie the knot with Fame, Power, Wealth, and A Red Sportscar. When we asked the woman if the marriage is about money, she denied it. She stated, "this isn't about my financial security, this is about the man I love: Fame, Power, Wealth, and A Red Sportscar." The woman who decided to drop out of college once she realized she was hot and could sleep her way through life said Fame, Power, Wealth, and A Red Sportscar proposed to her during a romantic candlelight dinner at the most expensive restaurant in town. The couple met when Fame, Power, Wealth, and A Red Sportscar was in town on a business trip. Fame, Power, Wealth, and Red A Sportscar admits that he plans "to use the gold digger for sex and then throw her away like yesterday's newspaper for a younger, looser woman a la Donald Trump." The fickle woman said she has no respect for herself anyway and plans to deal with situation when it comes. In the mean time, she will continue to wear next to nothing, shop, begin an extramarital affair, and be unemployed. She hopes to have children, but the groom to be is too smart for her ruse as it will mean child support. Best wishes to both! We wish you a long and prosperous marriage!

Chinese Restaurant to Use Affirmative Action in Hiring Employees

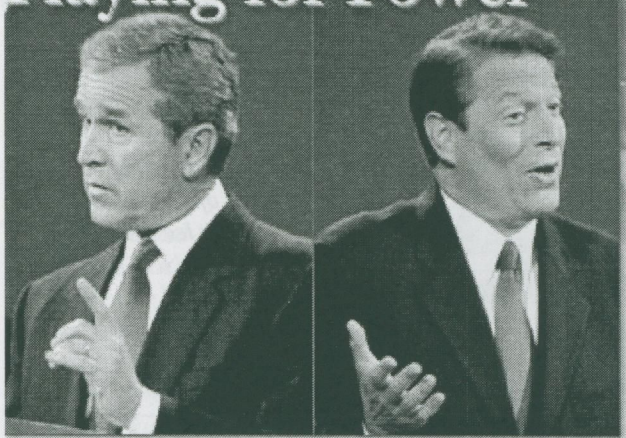

Yesterday, a Chinese restaurant owner finally hired someone that was not of Chinese descent. Chinese restaurants, which are notorious for hiring only Chinese people, may have become more open minded. The latest action may be a result of restaurant owners seeking more diversity in the type of waiters, cook, and busboys that they hire. "We recognize that people want to be served by different cultures and not just Chinese people," said Hun Sung Yan, the controversial restaurant owner. He added, "General Tso taught us a message of tolerance, and affirmative action is the only way we can correct the wrongs that have become so rampant in restaurant hiring practices. This is about diversity as well as spicy chicken."

Other Chinese restaurant owners don't seem to express approval for the move. Hardcore Chinese nationalist critics blasted the restaurant owner for the action. There was also tremendous looting and rioting in the Chinatown portion of San Francisco. They feel that the non-Chinese man who was hired was under-qualified for the position of cook. One Chinese takeout cook expressed his disgust. "I cannot believe what is happening. He doesn't even know how to marinate tofu with brown kikkoman sauce. How the hell is he supposed to cook hot plate chicken? How will he cook Kung Pow? He lacks the necessary training. The only advantage he has over me is that is command of the English language is better."

This is not the only time Chinese restaurant owners have been in the headlines. A decade ago, there was a tremendous stir involving standardization of takeout containers. Thankfully, a consensus resulted in the white boxes with handles we eat out of today. If enough noise is made about the landmark move, the Supreme Court may have another controversy on its hands. Enjoy!

Local Adolescent Boy Stiffer Than Al Gore

A local seventh grade boy felt a strange stiffness in his underwear yesterday. The incident occurred between classes during his awkward, zit-faced struggle to ask a girl out. Witnesses say he became very clumsy and dimwitted as all of the blood from his brain rushed elsewhere. Spectators also noticed the uncomfortable, self-conscious boy strategically place his notebook and binder in front of his crotch area.

When we asked the Vice President what he thought of the situation, he looked quite confused. But Mr. Gore calmly recollected himself and replied like a true politician that he "could relate to the boy." Mr. Gore then slowly positioned his crotch area out of our reporting team's view.

By the way, the girl rejected the boy's genuine, kind-hearted date invitation thereby damaging his self-confidence for years to come. She plans to go on to high school and concentrate in "cheerleading" and marry a husband who wears a ribbed wife beater tank top. Vice President Gore commented that he is against spousal abuse while Governor Bush is undecided on the issue at this time. His wife, Laura Bush, has severe bruises on her back and neck and claims she "fell down the stairs on multiple occasions."

George W. Bush Calls Indian Prime Minister A "MAJOR LEAGUE TOWELHEAD!"

In a very dimwitted campaign movie, George W. Bush called the Prime Minister of India a "Major League Towelhead!" while the microphones were still on during a campaign rally. He said this in an aside to Vice Presidential candidate Dick Cheney who agreed with Bush. Cheney was said to reply, "Oh yeah, Big time. He is a complete benchod (Indian swear word that non-Indian peeps will not understand. Ask someone that is Indian for the meaning. Its really very funny.)" It raises a question of Bush's knowledge on foreign relations and foreign policy because the Indian Prime Minister does not wear a turban (aka. towel) on his head. He then retracted his comment. He apologized for calling him "major league." He did not say he was sorry for calling the Prime Minister a towelhead because he has been known to wear a Turbie Twist after washing his hair.

Schoolyard Violence Strikes Again.

Podunk, GA-Yesterday, another school in America's heartland suffered a bout of violence directed towards a teacher. Mr. Hugh Mungousogre, an English literature teacher at the small hick town's Central High School was the latest victim of an unstable child's rage. A student leaped out of his chair yelling "die! Grendel! die!" and charged towards the helpless teacher. The student did not even carry a gun or knife, yet he was able to inflict extreme physical harm on the teacher. The rabid student approached the teacher and yelled something in eighth century poetry and proceeded to rip the teacher's arm out of it's socket.

It really raises the question of whether pop culture media such as "slash em up" video games and "shoot em up" gangsta rappers are responsible for schoolyard violence. The violent youngster apparently got the idea to rip his teacher's arm from his socket in the timeless epic tale that they were studying, Beowulf. So what does this mean? Children see and read graphic images everywhere, even classic novels. Just last week, a boy was charged with sexually harassing a girl in his class. He was apparently trying to mimic the final scene of John Steinbeck's The Grapes of Wrath. In this scene, an old, starving, dying man sucks the teat of a young woman to prolong his life. Coincidentally, the student was assigned to read that exact novel a week before. Classic novels are an evil to the youngsters of America. They are spoiling our youth. The National Board of Education must get to the root of the problem and purge the nation's schools of the classics. This is the only way violence will be prevented.

Nervous, Sweaty Man Misses $100 Question on Who Wants to Be a Millionaire

A New York man left the set of the show Who Wants to Be a Millionaire without any winnings. This is the first time in the show's almost year long history that someone has left without winning at least a $100. The man was truly stumped when the host, Regis Philbin, asked the following question: "The male genitals are referred to as which of the following? A. Penis B. Ice Cream C. Vagina or D. Cheerios."

He was rather fat, so he started to sweat profusely as Regis waited for an answer. He pulled out a small, hand held, portable fan and began to cool himself. To calm his nerves, he also finished off a donut that was sitting in his pocket. After much perspiration, he called his best friend for his "Phone a Friend" lifeline. To his horror, his friend did not pick up the phone. After approximately two minutes of ringing, Regis told the man that he must answer or use another lifeline. The pit stains became larger in the man's shirt. Finally, after his entire shirt had changed from light to dark blue, he decided to "Ask the Audience." The audience answered with each choice receiving twenty-five percent the vote. Confused and on the verge of drowning in a pool of his own oily sweat, he asked for the "50/50" lifeline, but not before telling Regis what two choices he was mentally debating between. To his surprise, the lifeline eliminated the two answers he knew to be wrong also, those being "cheerios" and "ice cream." Defeated and exhausted, he managed to utter "vagina" as the final and correct answer. Regis asked him if he was sure several times (as if to give the man a chance to change the answer). He did not take the hint. The man humiliated, defeated, and crestfallen at his own stupidity swam off the set because he had sweated so much. Afterwards, Regis manage to joke about how the man would have gotten the answer correct if "choice D" was a food item instead of "vagina."

CBS's Survivor Chooses A Cannibal As Contestant For Third Season

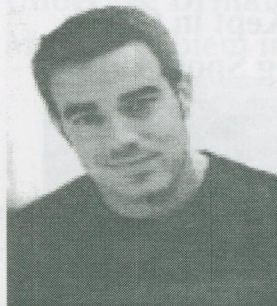

As long as he kills the other cast members, he will never run out of food. If he does run out of food, he will have won the million dollar prize. CBS denies any knowledge of his cannibalism before the selection.

Who Wants to Commit Regicide? Hell, I'll do it. He's the most self-smug, arrogant, pompous jackass of a talk show host since Chuck Woollery. Is this man not the most annoying person on television? His jokes aren't funny. The audience generally laughs out of sympathy. Constant stupid remarks. You know what? I'm not completely sure if he's an asshole. Let me phone a friend. Yep, my friend is 100% sure Regis is a son of a bitch. Thanks again, John, I really appreciate this.

Gap Between Rich and Poor, Madonna's Teeth Grows Wider

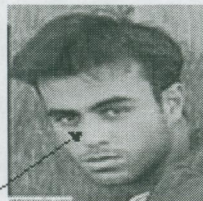

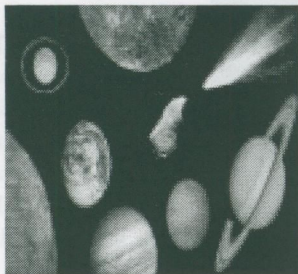

The rich are getting richer, and the poor are getting poorer. The gap between the two is widening according to statisticians, economics professors, and math nerds. They attributed the widening gap to factors like the increased cost of living, recent hike in gas prices, and the ever spacious gap between Madonna's teeth. Economics guru Lester Thurow feels that "if the space between Madonna's teeth gets any larger, our nation's economy is headed for an economic disaster. I mean, what the hell is she flossing her teeth with? Rope? Goddamn. She obviously doesn't realize her terrible dental hygiene spells catastrophe for the nation's well being. Global markets will melt down if that crazy crazy bitch isn't stopped."

The gap between Madonna's teeth was first noticed during her "Blonde Ambition" tour, coincidentally almost the same time as the recession of the early 1990's. "It was also at this time she quit brushing her gums in a general circular pattern," said a REACH Toothbrush company spokesperson. "I'm sure the fact that she likes to sleep with multiple sex partners doesn't help either. She's got a different father for every kid she's had. What the hell is she trying to do, start a Brady Bunch?," added a Colgate dentist. The clearance between her chompers became unavoidable by the time she was filming Evita.

Fed Chairman Alan Greenspan fears that Guy Ritchie, Madonna's most recent sexcapade and a Brit, may inadvertently pass on his country's terrible hygienic habits to her. Greenspan said, "He's given her syphilis and gonorrhoea already. She's a Pandora's Box down there. I am scared that she'll be disease ridden up there too. I fear for our nation's prosperity she'll be rinsing her mouth with sugar water soon." Regardless, she's got to rinse something else with vinegar and water, or else Pandora can expect another Brady

Mariah Carey Plans To Give Free Lap Dance to Anyone Who Buys Her Next CD

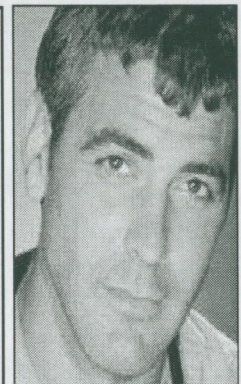

Mariah Carey, famous singer-slut-songwriter, has promised a free lap dance to those who buy her next CD. Remember how she used to dress humbly. Then she became a butterfly and shed her cocoon of clothing. Well, now she's giving up lap dances folks. Her agent says for her next CD, she will prostitute herself if you promise buy her music.

George Clooney Loses Patient

Right: The actor, George Clooney, forgot that he was not really a doctor. Clooney says he began to operate as soon as he learned that the patient had the symptoms of the flu. "I really felt like I had to cut him open and remove the flu because of its benign nature," said the actor. Said Clooney, "Because the patient was coughing, I also ordered a spinal tap done immediately. I didn't want to take any chances. I thought to myself 'I've lost patients before and I'll be damned before I lose a patient again.'"

Interview with Dr. Dre (Featuring Snoop Doggy Dogg and Eminem)

Dr. Dre (aka Andre Young) was busy this summer traveling across the country for his "Up in Smoke" Tour. It was a N.W.A. reunion and included rappers like Nate Dogg, Snoop, Eminem, Ice Cube, and M.C Ren. We recently caught up with Dre and chatted with him.

TA: Kudos to you on your success with The Chronic 2001.

Dre: Kudos. What the hell are you talking about? I ain't no goddamn granola candy bar. I'm straight outta Compton.

TA: Uh. I mean, congratulations on your comeback.

Dre: Yeah. Thanks yo. Everybody forgot about Dre. I'm back. I'm still not loving Po-leece. When I shoot and kill jiggas, I hold my gun sideways...Mexican style.

Snoop (dope smoke streaming out of his nose): Da da da da da. It's the mutha fuckin D.R.E.

TA: So I hear that you're a married man these days?

Dre: Yea. Damn Straight. I've got two daughters and a ho. Let me tell you about married life man. As hard as you try, you can't make a ho into a housewife. Man. Straight up, the shit just ain't gonna work.

Snoop: Still representin' gangstas all across the world. Taking his time to perfect the beat. It's the D.R.E.

TA: So who convinced you to go back to the "bitches and hos" genre following The Aftermath?

Dre: My wife. She's the main ho in my life. She's really changed my perspective on bitches and hos, and its affected my new album. I have respect for the hos in my life, so I follow what she tells me. She told me that the bitches and hos wasn't going to cut it. I needed to add some sex, dope smoking, and cars that bounce in my videos. And I was like shiiiiii. Straight up yo.

TA: Wow. Married life has changed you. Please set the record straight. Are you really a physician? Everybody's a little confused.

Dre: For sure. For sure. Got my M.D. from Compton Medical School. I decided to specialize in helping peeps get their groove back. I would like to say "yo" to my peeps at the C-O-M-P-T. Wessssss syyyddde.

Eminem: Mutha fuckas act like they forgot bout Dre.

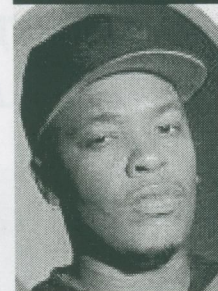

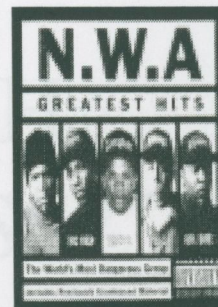

TA: So why aren't you practicing anymore?

Dre: Long story, short. I was sued for malpractice. I was treating some bitch in the ER, and she was like, "stop calling me bitch!" and I was like "shiiiiiii, I'll call you bitch cause I'm the mutha fuckin' D.R.E." Anyway, she was getting all in my shit, so I pulled the plug. I guess you're not supposed to do that as a physician. Regardless, it was no big loss. She didn't have love for the streets. I had to regulate like Warren G and Nate Dogg when they got their Rolexes taken away. 16 in the clip and 1 in the hole, I'z boutta make some bodies go cold. I let my Gat explode. You don't wanna step to this. Straight up yo.

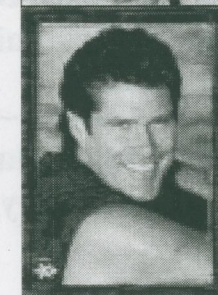

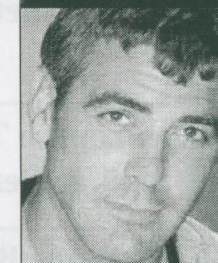

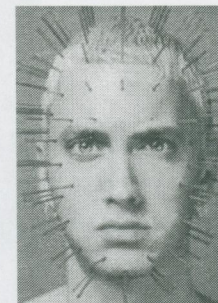

Snoop: It's the mutha fuckin D.R.E. Da da da da da. I'm the D. O. double G.

TA: Thanks Dre. Peace Out.

Dre: Fo sure. Fo sure bitch. We gotta hang out sometime.

“When I’m not having psychotic Vietnam flashbacks or single handedly killing the entire Russian Army, I enjoy hunting with my family. And I can’t hunt unless I have a giant, semiautomatic weapon to shoot a bunch of holes through deer, fox, and other wild animals. When I hunt with my children, I always teach them that guns are an important facet of our nation’s freedom. If it weren’t for guns, we’d be slaves to Charlie. Charlie would have taken this whole damned country over. They’ve pretty much taken over the financial sector of our country, but that’s a different story. I give guns to my children because I expect the unexpected. Any minute, some guerilla army could slaughter my family while they sleep. By the way, MacGyver is a pussy. We need guns. “When I am not busy fighting statutory rape charges, I like to sharpen my sense of humor. There is no better magazine to do this with than CWRU’s Lampon, The Athenian. They rape...excuse me.....rip on society’s shortcomings. Nobody is immune to their sharp wit and satire. Everybody is their victim. Hell, I wouldn’t be surprised if they made fun of me. And that is why I endorse this magazine. The Athenian has my seal of approval.”
